Following in Dad’s Footsteps . . .

In cities and towns all across America, sons follow in their father’s footsteps for career paths, fraternity and organization affiliations, and hobbies. But nowhere is the impact of these footsteps felt more than in small towns. In Bracken County those footsteps are filled from generation to generation in the Volunteer Fire Departments of Augusta, Brooksville, and Germantown. The Hesters of Brooksville are just one of those families.

The late Terry Hester was a member of the Brooksville Volunteer Fire Department for over 20 years. He instilled the love he and his wife, Joyce, have for their community into their children, Craig (Mary) Hester and Tricia (Kevin) Nesbitt, and their grandchildren, Tyler, Jaime, Kyle, and Jacob. Terry was followed into this community service by his son, Craig.

At the age of 16 Craig joined the Brooksville Volunteer Fire Department and has himself served the community for 20 plus years. Not only does he work with the fire department, he works a full time job at Clopay and serves the citizens of Brooksville as their Mayor. Craig and wife Mary have two children, Tyler (Tessa) Hester and Jaime (Silas) Liess, and two grandsons.

When Tyler turned 18, he followed in his father’s and grandfather’s footsteps as the third generation of Hester men to join the Brooksville Volunteer Fire Department.

Tyler also followed in his father’s footsteps when he took a job at Clopay in Augusta. Tyler, a 2010 graduate of Bracken County High School, has two sons. He and wife Tessa are now expecting a little girl. Ironically, all three Hester men also share working at the Brooksville IGA store in common. Terry worked at Faul’s IGA, while Craig and Tyler have worked for Lee’s IGA.

It is through the following of the footsteps of our fathers and grandfathers that we learn not only about the importance of serving our community but also the importance of family and the traditions that have helped to make our county one of the best small town communities in Kentucky.

Organizations team up for Men’s Health Month

To celebrate the Men’s Health Month, Bracken County Health Department, along with Men’s Health Network, the Congressional Men’s health Caucus, and hundreds of other local and national organizations will launch an awareness campaign.

The goal: Educate the public about the many preventable health problems that affect men and boys, and empower them and their loved ones to move towards a healthier, happier life.

Men die five years younger than women, on average, and die at higher rates for nine of the Top Ten causes of death. Men are the majority of workplace injuries, less likely to be insured, and far less likely to see a doctor for preventative care. All of this impacts their ability to be an involved father, supportive husband, and engaged member of their community.

“This year continues to be a pivotal one for men’s health – new guidance on prostate cancer screenings and the declining mortality rates for large groups of men means awareness and education is paramount,” says Ana Fadich, Vice President at Men’s Health Network.

Throughout June will be hundreds of events across the country and around the globe hosted by churches, private business, civic organizations, government agencies, fraternities, and other organizations.

This year also marks the 23rd Anniversary of National Men’s Health Week (NMHW), passed by Congress and signed into law by President Clinton in 1994. It started Monday, June 12, and ends on Father’s Day, June 18, 2017. Additional support comes from governors and mayors who issue proclamations for Men’s Health Week in their jurisdictions.

You can also find more information on a variety of health issues at the Men’s Health Resource Center: www.MensHealthResourceCenter.com and health profiles of men and boys in each state can be found at www.stateofmenshealth.com.

Be a Holiday Hero at the Clopay Blood Drive in Augusta Tues., June 27th

The need for blood doesn't take a holiday. Accidents, surgeries, cancer therapies, and disease treatments continue year round, even during the days surrounding 4th of July festivities when blood donations often take a dip.

To help ensure a strong holiday blood supply, Kentucky blood Center (KBC) is inviting everyone to roll up their sleeves and be a summer lifesaver. Area donors are invited to be Holiday Heroes at the upcoming blood drive at Clopay on Tuesday, June 27th. The KBC Bloodmobile will be at 531 East Fourth Street in Augusta from 2-6 p.m.

Walk-ins are welcome, but appointments can be made by visiting kybloodcenter.org and clicking on the donor Login button at the bottom of the page or by calling 800-775-2522, ext. 3758.

As a thank you, everyone who registers to donate will receive a special Holiday Hero T-shirt. Also, anyone 18 years and older who registers to give blood will be automatically entered to win a 2017 Toyota Highlander. The Highlander give-away runs June 1st to September 8th.

Blood donors must be 17 years-old (16 with parental consent), weigh at least 110 pounds and be in general good health. Donors must also show a photo I.D. with first and last name, like a state-issued driver's license. Sixteen-year-old donors must have a signed parental permission slip, which can be found at kybloodcenter.org.

Bracken FBLA Officers attend Leadership Development Camp

This summer, nine members and their advisor, Tracy Florer, of the Bracken County Chapter of FBLA attended Leadership Development Camp from June 7-9 in Hardinsburg, Kentucky. During camp, the FBLA members participated in a variety of activities ranging from officer preparation classes and workshops to karaoke and recreational athletics.

Bracken County graduates and former FBLA officers, Ashlee Florer Shugars and Todd Jefferson, were Camp Directors for the week and Korbin Florer was the Recreational Director. Bracken County was well represented at camp!!!!

The theme for the week was "Our Future Starts Now," and the campers enjoyed a Hollywood theme. This year, as always, was a fun and educational experience for the officers. Makayla Jefferson's team won the "Movie Twist" Oscar and Jimmy Poe's team took home the coveted gold mug for winning the recreational activities.

Tree Identification Book from the Arbor Day Foundation Helps People Identify Tree Species

The Arbor Day Foundation has a book that helps people identify trees in a simple, step-by-step process. The book, What Tree Is That?, is available for a $5 donation to the nonprofit tree-planting organization.

What Tree Is That? is a fun, easy-to-use tree identification guide that features hand-drawn botanical illustrations highlighting the distinctive characteristics of many tree species.

Nature lovers and professional arborists alike have called this pocket field guide a must-have, user-friendly resource. Its beautiful, full-color illustrations are in precise detail and depict natural colors, shapes, and textures so users can make a positive species identification in just a few easy steps.

The Arbor Day Foundation offers this book to help people identify trees throughout the Eastern and Central regions of the United States. What Tree Is That? uses a unique step-by-step approach for identifying the species of each tree, explaining what to look for in the shape of the leaves, differences in the leaf stems and twig structures, and specific characteristics of fruits, flowers, buds, and bark.

"Our What Tree Is That? Pocket guide is an ideal resource for developing a greater appreciation for trees," said Matt Harris, chief executive of the Arbor Day Foundation. "The Arbor Day Foundation strives to help people enjoy and appreciate trees, and we feel our pocket field guide will do just that."

What Tree Is That? is also available as an online interactive version at arbor-day.org.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

TAKING UP YOUR CROSS

The gospels of Matthew and Luke both recount the narrative of Jesus telling his followers that "Whoever wants to be my disciple must deny themselves and take up their cross daily and follow me." (Luke 9:23 NIV) Both gospels stress that "taking up your cross" is an act of self-denial, that one must renounce one's selfish interests and put the interests of God and your fellow man first. In everyday life that means putting up with the many things that annoy you, and we have many opportunities to do this every day. From people imposing on us at home, at work, and at school, to putting up with the annoying habits of our families and friends, we can daily take up our cross and emulate the long-suffering forbearance of Jesus, even if we aren't literally carrying a cross. And it probably helps to keep in mind that these crosses we bear are minor inconveniences which aren't destined to kill us, unlike the cross which Jesus bore. — Christopher Simon

"For whoever wants to save their life will lose it, but whoever loses their life for me will save it." — Luke 9:24 NIV

Are you or a loved one confused about Medicare?

The State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) provides free unbiased information, counseling, and enrollment assistance.

There are 2 main ways to get Medicare.

Original Medicare consists of Part A (Hospital) and Part B (Medical) which are provided by the federal government. You can also choose a Medicare Replacement plan, also known as Part C or Advantage Plans. Replacement plans are offered in certain regions from private insurance companies and must provide at least the benefits of Original Medicare.

With Original Medicare you'll pay a share of the costs. What you pay depends upon your contributions during the time you worked and your present financial situation. SHIP counselors are able to assist with applications for financial assistance programs such as the Low Income Subsidy "Extra Help" program and the Medicare Savings Plan programs.

Medicare supplemental policies, also known as Medigap policies, pay all or some of the remaining portion for which you are responsible. Supplemental plans can help with coinsurances, deductibles, and other expenses not covered by Original Medicare.

Prescription drug coverage (Part D) helps with prescription drug costs. You can enroll in a stand-alone Part D plan to accompany your Original Medicare coverage. If you have a Medicare Replacement plan (Part C) you will not be able to sign up for Supplemental plans or Prescription Drug Plans as most Medicare Replacement plans include prescription drug coverage.

The Initial Enrollment Period (IEP) is your first chance to enroll in Medicare. This seven month period begins three months before your 65th birthday month and closes three months after your birthday month. Coverage can start as early as the first of your birthday month, unless you were born on the first in which case your coverage can begin the prior month. If you miss your IEP, you will have to wait until the General Enrollment Period (GEP). Your coverage will be delayed and you may accrue penalties for late enrollment.

Review your choices once a year. You can make changes every year during the Medicare Open Enrollment Period (OEP), Oct 15th through Dec 7th. In some cases you may be able to enroll in or switch plans during a Special Election Period (SEP) if you experience a qualifying life event.

Medicare can be complicated but help is available.

Call your local State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) Coordinator to schedule an appointment or visit your Public Library on these dates.

Everyone is welcome to come and praise our Lord and Savior.

Faith Masters is celebrating her 12th birthday. We love you!

Ron Foley brought our SS lesson on "What Do We Want?" Romans 8:1-11. To live forever we must let Jesus live in us now. Next week's lesson "Made Alive". Ephesians 2:1-10.

Jane Nelson played a peppy and a favorite song of ours "I'll Fly Away".

We were also blessed by Homer Burton singing "I Want You To Meet My Friend" and "How Great Thou Art". He played these on his guitar. Great job Homer in singing for the Lord!

Bro. Jackie's message was "Faith Of The Centurion". Matthew 8:5-13. Just like the Centurion, we too have to believe, trust, and put our faith in God.

Remember in prayer: Each name on the prayer list and always each other. Sandy and Albert Blevins, Jay Colemire (hospital), Red Fryman, Claireen Highfield, Fannie Lou Hedgecock, Diane Hargett (fell), Ruth Nickerson (test), Billy Harrison (knee surgery pending for replacement), Dewey Harrison (back scar tissue & unable to work), Billy Reckers (knee problems), Dale Young (ulceration on foot).

We had our church picnic at the Augusta Park and had special music by "Zack Shelton and 64 to Grayson". Their music was wonderful! We had a large crowd and delicious food. One little lady that is going on 93 blessed us with singing "I'll Be Good. I Don't Want To Go To Bed!". This was sung by the precious Audrey McKinney. She loves to sing and does a great job! Her daughter, Carol Polley, is also very gifted in singing & playing so many instruments! There was plenty of laughing and splashing in the pool! Poor Angie McKinney...Jordan seemed to be picking on her all day and having fun! Jonathan and Lucas Puccini got an invitation to assist Zack Shelton in playing on stage. They did a great job. Then came swimming & off they went with their grandmother Sherry Henderson! We are ready for another picnic!

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES
by Caroline Jefferson
Congratulations and blessings to all our Dads as we celebrate Father's Day this Sunday, June 18! It is also our second son's birthday, so we send best wishes to Michael for a fantastic day all around! In today's society, it is very unfortunate that 1 in 3 children, or roughly 15 million, live in a home without a father! While society tries to make believe that this is not a crisis, statistics prove otherwise. Among some startling facts are higher suicide rates among teens, higher rates of incarceration, behavioral disorders, aggressive behavior, confused identities, lower achievement goals and higher drug abuse and drop-out rates! We pray for all Dads that they will realize the importance of their roles in the lives of their children and be active participants in the molding of these precious gifts from God! Again, we extend Happy Father's Day wishes to all Dads on this, their very special day!

St. James Vacation Bible School begins on Monday, June 19 from 9 AM to Noon and runs thru Thursday.

St. James Women's L.I.F.E. Group meets on Tues., June 20, beginning with prayers of the Rosary at 6 p.m. followed by refreshments and business. Ladies - y'all come!

NEW LIFE FELLOWSHIP

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI

by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

Saturday the women of the church provided food for the auction that was taking place in the adjoining property to the church.

Sunday was church as usual. We also had a meeting of the official governing board of the church on Sunday. We also had a group of our friends from Manchester who came to our church and we went out to eat together.

Monday will be our Soup Supper as usual.

Tuesday, Bob Gibson and I will be going to Wilder to pick up fresh vegetables and meats from the Free Store Food Bank. Tuesday afternoon the Augusta Ministerial Food Bank will be open.

Wednesday, we will have our monthly Bread Basket Meal featuring our grilled meats.

We had fifty-three in attendance Sunday. Lynn Darnell was the liturgist and Susie Hargett led the singing. Shirley Gallenstein did a beautiful rendition of the all-time favorite song, "I believe". Susie Hargett shared with us at the close of my sermon her testimony concerning the working of the Holy Spirit in her life.

We had a very busy week and I firmly believe that the church ought to be the center of our lives. Many of us were in the church doing the will of God five straight days and that is just wonderful.

What a beautiful Sunday for a church picnic! We had plenty of good food and good fellowship!

Our Sunday School lesson was about "How To Love Someone That You Can't Stand". A very powerful lesson. Treat everyone with love and God will be good to you!

Our opening prayer was given by Jerry Zeigler and closing prayer was by James Cox.

Today's message was "The Family Of God". We all, that believe in God, are the family of God.

Special singing was by Kim Fultz. She has a very beautiful voice. Our piano player is so good. We all love you Lisa! What a great job.

Keep in prayer: the family of Dean Workman, Mack Wallace (had eye surgery), Phyllis Wolford (shots in knees), Martha Lynn (stomach problem), Gary Cummins (heart problem), the sick, everyone in the service and the families that have lost loved ones. Danielle Shackelford has arrived overseas. She is studying to be a missionary.

Wednesday Night "Refresh" is 7 p.m. Bring your Bible & a friend!

Our mission is to evangelize the lost, edify the saved and minister to those in need.

BROOKSVILLE CHRISTIAN

by John Elfers

On a beautiful Sunday morning, Ron taught us all a new word, Immutable: unchanging over time. Another definition of our transcendent God. James 1:17 tells us our God never changes. In Malachi, God tells us "I, the Lord, do not change". However, we do! We must be transformed by the renewing of our minds, and even though we will all fall short of God's glory, it won't be because the target moved. Our God never changes.

This is Vacation Bible School week, so it's all hands on deck to spread God's grace throughout the community. We pray for all the teachers and helpers, but most of all the children and their parents.

HMH radiology receives ACR accreditation in CT Services

The HMH Radiology Department received re-accreditation by the American College of Radiology (ACR) in the Computed Tomography (CT) services. The program is accredited for the 64-Slice GE CT Scanner for adult and pediatric patients.

The entire program is evaluated on the facility, personnel qualifications, image quality, equipment, quality control procedures and protocols. This involved an extensive application process. Stephanie Clifford, CT Radiology Technologist, has worked on the project for the past year, along with the Medical Directors of Radiology, Dr. Allen Bond and Dr. Doug Crutcher.

The ACR awards accreditation to facilities for the achievement of high practice standards after a peer-review evaluation of its practice. Image quality and procedure evaluations are conducted by board-certified radiologists and medical physicists who are experts in the field. The program also evaluates personnel qualifications, adequacy of facility equipment, quality control procedures and quality assurance programs. All findings are reported to the practice via a comprehensive report that includes recommendations for improvement.

"Re-accreditation of the CT shows HMH's true commitment to quality patient care," says Pam Bowles, Radiology Manager. "Our testing is completed at the highest quality standard and the accreditation is evidence of that standard."

Other modalities to have this accreditation are magnetic resonance imaging (MRI), mammography and nuclear medicine.

The HMH Radiology Department plays a critical role in the accurate imaging, reading of images and diagnosis of patients by offering a full-range of services for both adults and pediatrics. The department is staffed by three board-certified, experienced radiologists as well as radiology technologists. All radiology technologists are certified and licensed in his or her field of practice.

To learn more about the radiology department, visit the HMH website at harrison-memhosp.com. Or contact the department at 859-235-3559.

Historical Society looking to place needed signs at local cemeteries

The Bracken County Historical Society wants to draw your attention to the two cemeteries at the junction of KY19 and KY10 on the east side of Brooksville.

Neither cemetery has a sign or monument with the name of the cemetery. When out-of-town visitors look for graves of their loved ones, they have to ask someone on the street which cemetery might be the one they are looking for. Often, our own residents don't know which cemetery is listed as: Old Brooksville, Old IOOF, Woodward Cemetery, Metcalfe Cemetery, and several other names.

The Society is sponsoring an art raffle this summer to raise the $2,000 needed to place a permanent marker or sign at each cemetery. Several citizens are still cleaning off stones and removing weeds in the old cemetery so that the monuments can be seen.

Visit the Society office on the courthouse square and purchase a $5.00 ticket on a piece of Judy Federer art and support this cause. They are seeking businesses to allow tickets to be sold at their sales counters and participate in this effort.

Trash Talk

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

Howdy Folks! Warmer weather is upon us and the growing season is kicking into high gear but it's not only plants and vegetation that is growing! Yard sale signs have begun popping up on poles, posts and some are especially hardy as the free-standing variety. Unfortunately, they have a short life span and wilt rather quickly leaving limp cardboard as a testimony to the once anticipated big event! These lovingly hand-crafted signs blossomed quickly and led bargain seekers to the unknown but sought-after treasures, only to be left hanging and forgotten! These carefully worded signs become unsightly distractions as the elements of rain and wind batter and tear them apart, tossing them on the ground as lowly pieces of litter! We love yard sales and appreciate the fact that these weekend events create the best outlet for 're-using' and even 'repurposing' many items! Yard sales, thrift stores, consignment shops, Goodwill, flea markets, etc. are all opportunities for alternate places to shop, not only for a bargain to conserve finances, but they also help conserve natural resources! If you are fortunate to cultivate a yard sale sign, please be sure to 'pick' it in its prime before it becomes another ugly piece of litter!

Litter doesn't have a specific growing season; it seems to be of the coniferous family, remaining alive and active year 'round! As stated in the past, litter sprouts from intentionally throwing something out a vehicle or unintentionally littering when something blows out of a truck bed or when trash cans are knocked over before or during trash pickup. Rumpke will accept six bags or six cans per week per customer or a combination of the two, but Bracken County's Solid Waste Ordinance actually states that lidded cans are to be used for trash pickup. Lidded cans are really the better option to prevent bags being ripped apart by animals be they domestic or wild. Ordinance #87-002 describes in Section 2 the requirements for containers used for storage of waste, the manner of storage for solid waste and the standards for the storage containers.

Basically this ordinance is telling us that citizens need to provide sufficient and adequate containers for the storage of normal solid waste and to maintain those containers at all times in good repair. Not only is it required that the containers be kept in good condition, but "the area surrounding them needs to be maintained in a clean, neat and sanitary condition at all times so that it will not provide harborage to rodents, vermin and will not create a fire hazard. The storage container itself should not be more than 35 gallons, not less than 10 gallons and be leak proof, waterproof and fitted with a fly-tight lid. It shall be properly covered at all times except when depositing waste therein or removing the contents thereof. Disposal solid waste containers with suitable frames or containers as approved by the (Director) may also be used for storage of residential solid waste". If these explanations raise more questions than provide you with answers, please give us a call and we will try to the best of our abilities to get the correct answer!

With all this litter talk, we need to think about expending the remaining 2017 Litter Abatement Funds. With less than one-half of this grant left, we will probably conduct one more road clean this fall. For those of you who are intentional or unintentional litterbugs, please reconsider and don't litter! For everyone, please RECYCLE, REUSE and REDUCE to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful!

Be seen' you - Bin & Bug.

KSP Warns Warmer Weather Poses Danger For Children

Temperatures are on the rise this week and KSP is warning parents not to leave a child alone in a hot car. It may seem like common sense, but every year law enforcement agencies answer calls about unattended children in vehicles. Kid-sandCars.org reports that 39 children died in the U.S. during 2016 from vehicular heat stroke with 11 deaths already in 2017.

KSP spokesman Lt. Michael Webb says vehicle heat stroke is often misunderstood by the general public. A majority of parents are misinformed and would like to believe that they could never ‘forget’ their child in a vehicle.

“The most dangerous mistake a parent can make is to think leaving a child alone in their car could never happen to them,” says Webb. “In these fast-paced times, it is easy for parents to get distracted and forget their child is in the car with them.”

Webb advised that the interior of a car heats up very quickly and temperatures inside can reach 125 degrees in minutes.

“A child’s body heats up three to five times faster than that of an adult,” adds Webb. “The temperature inside a car can rise 19 degrees in 10 minutes. Together, this can be deadly in a very short period of time.”

Webb says another component to these tragic deaths is the genuine curiosity of a child. Far too often, a child will be outside playing and end up in a car, locking themselves inside of the vehicle.

“A child will climb into a vehicle to play and is overcome with heat, becoming disoriented and unable to get out,” adds Webb. “In extreme summer heat, a child can become incapacitated in a very short time.”

“Tragically, about 33 percent of children who die in hot cars entered the vehicle on their own while left unattended,” he says.

In 2000, Kentucky passed “Bryan’s Law,” which makes a person liable for second-degree manslaughter or first-degree wanton endangerment for leaving a child younger than eight years of age in a motor vehicle where circumstances pose a grave risk of death. The law was named after 11-month old Bryan Puckett, who died July 13, 1999 after being left in a hot car by his babysitter.

Webb offers the following safety tips:

- Never leave a child in an unattended car, even with the windows down.

- Be sure that all occupants leave the vehicle when unloading. Don’t overlook sleeping babies.

- Always lock your car. If a child is missing, check the car first, including the trunk. Teach your children that vehicles are never to be used as a play area.

- Keep a stuffed animal in the car seat and when the child is put in the seat place the animal in the front with the driver as a reminder.

- Place your purse or briefcase in the back seat as a reminder that you have your child in the car.

- Make ‘look before you leave’ a routine whenever you get out of the car.

Webb says while a person will face criminal charges for leaving a child in a car, the pain and guilt from making such a mistake will last far longer.

KSP asks citizens to keep an eye out for children left in vehicles on hot days and to call 911 if they think the occupant is in danger.

Encourage your young angler's growing interest this summer

If free fishing weekend was a homerun with your kiddos, you might be wondering about how to keep the momentum going throughout the summer.

Take a cue from them: keep it fun.

Does this mean they need to catch a fish or get a bite every cast? Not necessarily. Fun can be wading a creek or floating down one for the first time in a canoe or kayak. Fun can be seeing how many different species of fish you can catch or how many fishing holes you can visit this summer. Fun can be catching your own live bait then using it to catch dinner.

Fun doesn't not have to be complicated, but finding the time can be for grown-ups.

A memorable fishing trip does not require an entire day. Take off after work with your new fishing buddy and fish until dusk, or rise early and fish until mid-morning.

You probably have an idea about where to go, but lay out the options and let your young angler make the final decision. They will appreciate being involved in the process.

"Offer your suggestions but don't be too pushy," said Easton Copley, aquatic education program coordinator with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Farm ponds and Fishing in Neighborhoods (FINs) lakes are excellent options. The odds of catching fish consistently can be better in these smaller bodies of water.

The FINs program includes 43 locations across Kentucky and each is stocked throughout the year. Hybrid sunfish have been stocked in almost two dozen FINs lakes in recent days. Channel catfish were stocked in many last month.

Streams are another good option.

"In the creek, you're always moving," said Mike Hardin, assistant Fisheries Division director for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "There's always something new around the bend. If you're in the shallows, you're seeing minnows. If you're up in the shoal, you'll see crawdads. As you wade, you can see fish dart by. You can catch a lot of fish. They can always take a friend and all of you can just go to the creek and they find their own fun."

Kids love to play in the dirt and splash in the water. Teach them about how easy and fun it can be to do both by catching their own live bait.

Worms appeal to just about every game fish species and it's a fairly easy activity for a young angler to collect plenty for a day trip. Observe a driveway or sidewalk after a rain shower. Along with gardens, compost piles and areas where the soil stays moist and cool, these spots can yield a bonanza of live bait.

Like worms, crayfish make great live bait, especially in waters holding smallmouth bass.

"If you're going to look for crawdads in a large creek, look for backwater areas or areas with isolated, ponded water that's not really flowing," Hardin said. "You can flip rocks over there and the crayfish are easier to catch."

Don't forget about the pincers. Pick up a crayfish on either side of its midsection - behind the head and pincers - with your thumb and index finger. Crayfish are hearty and do fine kept in a small bait bucket filled with water. Hook them through the underside of the tail with an Octopus hook and fish them weightless or with a pinch weight.

"When you cast them in swift water, they swim a little bit and you can feel them thump. When you feel that thump, smallmouth just come to it," Hardin said. "When there's no more thump, and you feel that steady pull on it, you've got one."

A good starter set-up for a young angler is simple - a spincast reel spooled with 4-pound clear monofilament line threaded through the guides of a 5-foot or shorter rod. Thread a worm onto an Aberdeen hook, apply a small splitshot to the line beneath a bobber and they're ready to catch fish.

Once they've got a handle on how to operate the basic setup, they may want to try different equipment or presentations.

Few things in fishing are more exciting than watching a fish crash a topwater lure. To assemble an easy and productive summertime topwater presentation for panfish and bass, thread the line through a clear casting bobber and attach a small swivel to the main line. To the swivel, tie a 12- to 18-inch monofilament leader. Tie a foam spider or popper fly to the other end.

You will not want to forget your young angler's experiences and development, so consider keeping a summer scrapbook or get them in the habit of documenting their fishing adventures in a journal. These will become treasured keepsakes for years to come and imagine how impressed their teachers will be when the new school year starts.

Note the date and location of each outing. Include photographs of fish caught and a description of the trip. Keep a log of how many species of fish were caught by your young angler over the summer.

"A sticker chart would be cool, too," Copley said.

Measure and photograph the biggest fish. They may qualify your angler for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's trophy fish program. Anglers who catch a qualifying fish by pole or line can receive a trophy fish pin. Learn more about the program on the department's website at fw.ky.gov.

Keeping Bracken County on the move!

Spring allergies

Submitted by Shannon Smith, CEA for FCS

Spring is a time for renewal, but if you suffer from seasonal allergies this renewal can make this time of year miserable.

Hay fever, also called allergic rhinitis, starts with cold-like symptoms. Unlike a cold that goes away in seven to 10 days, an allergic reaction tends to linger until its source is identified and treated or no longer present. One of the most common causes of allergies during the spring is high pollen counts. Depending upon the type of pollen you are allergic to, this could happen at various points in the season. Different types of pollen peak at different times.

To reduce your exposure to pollen, monitor local pollen counts and take necessary precautions when the type of pollen you are allergic to is high. Precautions can include such things as starting to take allergy medicines or closing the windows in your home at night, as well as the following:

- Stay inside on dry, windy days.
- Change your clothes and shower after being outside to remove pollen.
- Do not hang laundry outside.
- Avoid being outdoors in the morning, when pollen counts are the highest.

- Use air conditioning to cool your house or car.
- Vacuum your floors often.

Seasonal allergies can develop at any time during your life and are not necessarily something you are born with. Sometimes signs of allergies aren't straightforward, as it can be hard to distinguish an allergy from the common cold. This is especially true with children. If you or your child has cold symptoms that last more than a week or seem to occur at the same time every year, you may want to talk with your health care provider about it. Only a certified health care provider can truly diagnose allergies and prescribe treatments.

More information on healthy living is available at the Bracken County Extension office, 606-735-2141.

Our national forests provide habitat for wildlife, keep the air clean, and help ensure safe drinking water for more than 180 million Americans.

To join the Arbor Day Foundation and help plant trees in our national forests, send a $10 membership contribution to Replanting Our National Forests, Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410 or visit arborday.org/july.

Kentucky Battlefield Scores Major Artifact Acquisition

A significant Kentucky battlefield recently acquired an artifact directly related to one of the commanders at their battle.

Officials with the Battle of Richmond found and purchased the Major General's commission of William "Bull" Nelson, the overall Union commander at the Battle of Richmond.

"We were actually looking for something else when this piece came up in a search," said Phillip Seyffert, Richmond Battlefield Superintendent. "It was the proverbial needle in a haystack." Seyffert added, "The commission was part of an auction two years ago and didn't sell, which was extremely fortunate for us."

The commission is dated July 15, 1862, and features the complete signatures of then President Abraham Lincoln, Secretary of War Edwin Stanton and Adjutant General Lorenzo Thomas. The 14" by 19" document is printed on vellum, which is treated calfskin and is similar to parchment.

William "Bull" Nelson was born on September 27, 1828, in Washington (Mason County), Kentucky. He attended the U.S. Naval Academy and at the outbreak of the Civil War was transferred to the U.S. Army primarily due to his Kentucky connections.

Nelson established Camp Dick Robinson in Garrard County, Kentucky during the summer of 1861. Named a

Brigadier General, he went on to command Union troops at the battles of Ivy Mountain (Ky.), Shiloh and Corinth, Mississippi.

Nelson returned to Kentucky in the summer of 1862 to help thwart a Confederate advance into the commonwealth. His inexperienced force was completely decimated at the Battle of Richmond on August 29 & 30, 1862. Nelson was wounded but alluded capture by the victorious Confederates. Richmond was the only battle Nelson fought as a Major General.

Nelson was shot and killed by fellow Union general Jefferson C. Davis on September 29, 1862, in Louisville, Kentucky. His remains were eventually returned to Maysville, Kentucky, for burial. Davis, no relation to the Confederate president Jefferson Davis, was charged but never tried for the murder.

After some minor conservation and framing, the commission will be on display at the Battle of Richmond Visitors Center.

The Battle of Richmond Association is currently accepting donations to purchase the commission from a local benefactor. Donations should be sent to the Battle of Richmond Association, Attention: Nelson Commission Fund, 101 Battlefield Memorial Highway, Richmond, KY 40475. For more information, please call the Battle of Richmond Visitors Center at 859-624-0013.

The Augusta Art Guild would like to congratulate its “Best Of Show” winners, Jaime and Tracy Iliff of Jaime's Art Pottery. From their studio in Cincinnati, this duo creates pottery using clay dug from local deposits and has developed their own glaze recipes to create beautiful one-of-a-kind ceramics. Examples of their work can be seen at www.jaimesartpottery.com.

Thanks to an anonymous donor, a second prize was also awarded during this year's Art in the Garden. The judges elected to recognize Ivanka Lempitskiy with an “Honorable Mention” award. Ms. Lempitskiy is Cincinnati-based artist who works in a variety of medium including jewelry and pastels. She is

KY Center Governor's School for the Arts Celebrates 30th Anniversary as it prepares to welcome students

During the past 30 years, The Kentucky Center Governor's School for the Arts (GSA) has transformed the state's most creative young minds into professionals on track for future success. The three-week residential summer program takes place at Centre College in Danville and is offered to more than 250 exemplary Kentucky high school students with an interest in one of the nine disciplines that GSA offers. Those with a passion for architecture and design, creative writing, dance, drama, film and photography, instrumental music, musical theatre, visual art and vocal music are encouraged to apply to the program to expand their skillset and reach beyond the confines of a traditional high school classroom.

Over the summer, these students work with professional teaching artists and GSA alumni to illuminate their abilities as artists and master qualities that will benefit Kentucky for years to come. With more than 5,700 alumni, GSA connects these young adults to an immense network of friendly faces and resources. Alumni often return to assist in student instruction and exploration, including GSA director Nick Covault, graduating class of 2002. Covault studied vocal music during his time in the immersive summer program and used this momentum to steer his life towards success, as he is the first graduate to serve as director of GSA.

Covault isn't the only graduate to remain connected to the program. Kentucky Center president Kim Baker was a part of the original GSA class of 1987 where she studied instrumental music.

“GSA helped set me on a lifelong journey,” Baker said. “It provided an outlet to share my passion and provided access to a career path that now gives me the opportunity to open doors to life-changing, transformative experiences for others.”

The prosperous futures of GSA alumni are not limited to Kentucky or academia. Kevin Olusola, member of the world-famous and Grammy-winning acapella group Pentatonix, got his start with GSA. Brooklyn-based illustrator and GSA alumnus Ben Wiseman's artwork has been featured on numerous magazine covers, including TIME and Newsweek. Louisville-native Alaina Mills was a member of the 2005 graduating class where she devoted herself to acting and dancing, and now Mills tours the country with the production of “Beautiful – The Carole King Musical.” These graduates, as well as Baker and Covault, are collaborating to create what Baker calls “a lasting impact on the lives of individuals as well as our entire community, for generations to come.”

Impacts that the GSA classes have on the world stretch far beyond the arts community, and the bar for these students is set quite high. The program has become a jumping-off point for those with talents in law, accounting and even those who've devoted their lives to the field of medicine. William Gump (1989, Creative Writing) is a pediatric neurosurgeon for Norton Healthcare, using the softer skills GSA gave him, such as critical observation and adaptability, in his difficult line of work.

In late June, the student-artists will gather, coming from every corner of the state – 47 counties represented in all. For weeks, they will be immersed in a rigorous schedule of daily seminars, masterclasses, lectures, hands-on workshops and field trips to regional arts attractions – so that when they graduate, GSA will leave them better acquainted with their own talents, better prepared for the professional world and capable of representing Kentucky proudly, as so many GSA artists have done before.

A typical day for the students can consist of several hours of studio time, immersive workshops and/or special events such as college fairs and field trips. The teens frequently meet with alumni and local artists to get advice on future endeavors and on other days, are able to travel the state to experience attractions of artistic nature such as the Speed Art Museum in Louisville or a listening tour with the Kentucky Historical Society. The whole experience wraps up with the exciting Final Day Festival where the new graduates will be able to celebrate what they have learned and how they plan to apply their new skills as they go forward in their lives.

The possibilities for these esteemed students are endless. The benefits that stem from GSA involvement will last far beyond those three weeks.

They will be able to apply the skills and knowledge they gained for the rest of their lives, whether they continue down an artistic path or not. The Governor's School for the Arts summer program is a once-in-a-lifetime experience and as Covault said, “Acceptance into GSA is a high honor and accomplishment that should make parents, teachers and communities proud.”

VOLUNTEERS ADVOCATING FOR CHILDREN

Who are CASA Volunteers?

CASA Volunteers are EVERYDAY PEOPLE who care about children! A volunteer must be at least 21 years of age, pass a criminal background check and have a high school diploma and/or GED. Volunteers of the CASA Program for Bracken, Fleming, and Mason Counties, Inc. are compassionate, objective, self-motivated individuals from our community who are trained to speak on behalf of abused and neglected children. They come from all walks of life and a variety of professional, educational and ethnic backgrounds. Many volunteers work full-time, but others work part-time, stay at home or are retired. All are passionate and committed to helping abused and neglected children.

What are the roles of a CASA Volunteer?

Volunteers are officers of the court. They serve as an extra pair of “eyes and ears” for the District Judge in child abuse and neglect cases. CASAs meet with the child on their case and independently gather information from others who are involved in that child's life. This includes researching each child's situation and making objective recommendations. CASA volunteers are frequently the one constant person in the child's life as they navigate the foster care system. The volunteer's sole objective is to represent the best interests of the child.

CASA'S Mission...

Our mission is to provide trained community volunteers to speak for children in court who are victims of dependency, neglect and/or abuse. We help children find a safe, permanent and loving home as soon as possible.

A new volunteer training class will start soon. The training is free and refreshments are served. For more information, contact CASA at 606-563-7431.

CASA protects our most vulnerable citizens, please consider being a powerful VOICE in a Child's Life.
